

Course report for Biochemical toxicology (KB7001)

Höstterminen 2016

Teachers: Joe DePierre, Manuchehr Abedi, Ralf Morgenstern, Gunnar Johanson, Stephen Ström, Inger Johansson, Per Rydberg, Bengt Mannerik, Iloni Silins, Bo Lundgren, Annika Hanberg, Stefan Nobel, Emma Vincent, Monica Nordberg, Hanna Karlsson, Anders Undén, Lennart Eriksson, Dag Jenssen, Mimmi Shoshan, Ulla Stenius. All of these teachers are located either at Stockholm University or Karolinska Institutet and a substantial number are professors.

Students: 8 students completed the course. The number has varied over the years from 6 to 22.

General comments: This course has been given once annually (except twice during the present academic year) since 1978, so that I have had time to carefully select teachers of outstanding pedagogic quality, as well as to introduce pedagogic finesses and iron out any problems. In general, the students were very satisfied with the quality of the lectures, all of whom are also experts in their individual fields. The course participants also had praise for the diagnostic (self-evaluation) tests, the take-home examination and the problem-based learning projects.

Improvements that will be made:

- Some of the handouts provided by the lecturers did not adequately cover their material. The lecturers concerned have been informed of this and asked to revise this material.
- There was some overlap in the material presented by different lecturers. Again, they have been informed and will eliminate this overlap.

Kursansvarig lärare: Prof Joseph W. DePierre
